John H. Blackmore Speaks To Good Crowd

A crowd of 75 people gathered in the High School Auditorium Friday evening to hear John H. Blackmore, M.P., for the Lethbridge constituency speak on the reason for Social Credit joining the New Democracy in the Dominion Field. He stated that each would lend strength to the other, and that they had much in common because Mr. Herridge's platform as leader of the New Democracy movement was to give the people a chance to say what should be done and then to do it. He stated that under the present set-up, the Presidents of the Social Credit groups in the Provincial House formed the executive for the larger constituency, and that when they met on provincial business they were Social Creditors but when they gathered on Dominion business they were of the New Democracy party. In answer to a question as to whether or not there would be any Social Credit candidates in the field in the next Dominion election, he said that there would not be in name, but there would be many of them in purpose. Democracy in Canada today was an absolute farce said the speaker, and Mr. Herridge had committed himself to do what the people wanted him to do if elected, and bring in true Democracy. He stated that when our monetary system was changed so that we received debt free and interest free money without borrowing it or without taxing it from the people, then we were heading for real democracy.

He then turned his attention to the economic conditions especially of Canada. He stated that we had 470,000 or more unemployed in the Dominion. These people were barely getting a subsistence, not enough for a good living. If we increase the allowance to these people and don't raise taxes to obtain it, where will we get it unless we create it. On the other hand if we endeavor to raise it by taxation we are going to tax business out of operation and thus add to the unemployed and increase the demands for relief. This was no solution to the problem. It was merely putting off the evil day of settlement. Then too, if you are to raise allowances to the unemployed you are giving them a better living than many of the others who are working to pay these taxes, and of course, there is no justice in this procedure. He made a scathing attack on men who would accept offices in government and then close their eyes to conditions around them and refuse to take definite and sensible steps to right these wrongs.

He referred to the $26,000,000 of currency issued during the war to meet an urgent need and the good that it accomplished, and stated that this could just as easily have been $50,000,000 and accomplished just that much more good. Increased purchasing power in the hands of the people would not raise prices nor cause inflation as there was good and services enough to exchange for this currency or as long as more goods and services could be produced to redeem it. Citing the experiment in Guernsey Island he stated that the exchange they instituted there was not backed by anything but the wealth of the country, and yet it served very well and brought prosperity to the people as long as they were permitted to carry on unmolested by outside interests, which finally happened and influenced the rulers to pass legislation which inaugurated a financial

Half Inch Of Rain In Storm

The drizzle on Sunday, with the showers Tuesday and the rain storm Tuesday night brought half an inch of rain to the dry and thirsty earth. It was very welcome and will do a great deal of good.

There was much discussion Wednesday morning as to just how much good it would do to the wheat crop. There are some fields too far advanced and too near ripe for the rain to help any. In all the fields where the kernels are still green and soft the moisture will help the kernel fill out, and will add weight to the crop, besides making the straw better for feed. Pastures and hay land will benefit greatly from the moisture received.

We have seen samples of one or two fields of grain, and many of the kernels are only about half size and are very light. This is stubbled in grain that commenced burning early, and deteriorated during all of the extremely hot and dry weather. Generally speaking the yield and the grade of the harvested crop will be benefitted by the rain and everyone is glad to see it. Wednesday was cloudy, but no rain fell.

New School Addition Going Up

Work is progressing on the new two room addition at the High School to house additional scholars. If we remember our figures correctly, this is to be 53 x 45 feet, one storey, and will be built on the north end of the building in such manner that if desired in coming years it will be possible to build two more rooms on top of it, to make it two storey, or to build onto the rear of it.

C.F. Tollestrup has the contract for the work, and has a crew at work, and it is the intention to have the rooms ready for use when school starts. This addition will place some of the rooms without outside windows, as provision is made for artificial lighting and ventilation so that this room will be as good as any of the others in the building.

George Brewerton was in Great Falls for a couple of days this week in attendance at the North Montana State Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross F. Gibb of Picture Butte were Raymond visitors with relatives on Saturday.

If we can't print it we will tell you, but we would like to have a chance to discuss your printing problems with you. The Recorder.

Vern Henry and Winston Shaw were painting a new sign and painting the front of the Case agency here this week.

The Arnold Zabriskie and Frank Taylor families are vacationing at Waterton Park this week. The weather was probably quite cool, it being reported that snow fell in the Park Sunday night.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood left for Vancouver Saturday evening to attend a memorial service there for Mr. E. T. Rogers, president of the Sugar Co., who was drowned last week. At the date of Mr. Wood's departure for the coast city no trace of the body had been found.

Premier Aberhart Presents Social Credit Record

A large crowd for an afternoon meeting gathered in the Opera House Wednesday afternoon to hear Premier Aberhart and to listen to the facts and figures presented from the big book.

John H. Blackmore, M.P., spoke briefly. He was pleased to meet with the Premier and declared that as something to think about, all might remember that with modern machinery it was impossible for labor to make a good living; we did not want to do without machinery, and the only other thing to do was to pay laborers and unemployed dividends, and the only way to do that was to create it.

Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer was glad to meet his many friends and acquaintances. His interest was here and he was interested in finding a solution for the ills of the district.

E. C. Manning, Provincial Secretary, expressed his joy at visiting Raymond for the first time. We would have to continue the fight for what the present government had undertaken or else go back to the hopelessness of the old party system. We would have to choose. He for their increase in debt year by year and their lack of effort to stem it. The total debt of the short-sighted, patronage voter and intelligent voter and hoped that all present would be in the 2, 1935, was $602,000,00 which last class. He urged all to study the facts and be prepared to pass them on to others.

Jack Jones of Edmonton and two solos "On the Farm by the Old Poplar Tree" and "Nobody Noticed Me."

Premier Aberhart opened his press in every department of remarks by stating that in a democracy a Premier should be part to his people, and that was his purpose. The facts were in the big book, standing on the platform, and he urged all to study the facts and make their own decision as to whether or not the government had tried to do the things the people expected of them. He stated that one of the first tasks of the government was to establish the philosophy of Social Credit in the Province and then issue purchasing, youth training and in terms of public need and gain control of the credit balance production and consumption. This was the first task, the second was to re-organize the departments of government in their efforts to accomplish the first seven acts had been Anthem.

At the conclusion of his talk the Premier was given a big hand and the meeting was adjourned by singing the National Anthem.

Good Progress Made On New Road

Tuesday morning we drove over a portion of the new road to Stirling, and were agreeably surprised to find such a splendid road in course of construction. Congratulations to the Council of Sugar City M.D., and there would not be the tendency to wear a deep road right in the centre.

The entire road will be built with a 25 foot width on the top well drained, and kept level most of the way, corners are well rounded and when gravelled will make a really fine secondary highway.

In our opinion, one of the mistakes in the past has been in building our roads too narrow. While it is true that a car is not very wide, yet when traveling 35 or 40 miles per hour, or the new grade has had a little chance to settle down and he has plenty of room to pass come firm.

Genealogical Convention Well Attended

NEWS NOTES

We wonder if money would make us as happy as we think it would? Maybe after all our greatest blessing is in not having the temptation too great.

The Rotary meeting on Monday was addressed by F. Donald Merrill and S.I. May who reported on the recent District Assembly.

Stan Bennett returned last week from a vacation trip on his scooter. Stan says it cost him 57c. for fuel for his trip from Wenatchee to Raymond. This is what might be called seeing the world economically.

The North Star Painters done all the signs over on the front of the building and also painted the inside of the garage a sparkling white. It has certainly made it lighter inside and a great deal more attractive on the outside.

The last week in July was one of the most disastrous seven days in Alberta's agricultural history. Exceptionally high temperatures prevailed over the wheat belt, and particularly in the south. Empress was the hottest spot in the province, registering 106 degrees of heat.

The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome estimates European crops 14 percent lower than last year. Spain has a comparatively poor crop this year and should be a large importer. Rains have damaged the crops in Germany, France and Italy.

The Alberta Wheat Pool has its plans made to go ahead with pooling to take care of excess marketings over the 5,000 bushel limit permitted to go to the Wheat Board. As soon as the federal government regulations in connection with pooling are announced further details will be made public by the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Funeral Services For Edna Wall

Funeral services over the remains of Edna, daughter of Mrs. Mary Wall, were held in the Second Ward Church last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Bishop Walker in charge. Jos. McLean conducted the choir with Mrs. Emma Dahl at the organ. A nice crowd was present and the lovely floral offerings were a silent tribute of the respect in which deceased and her family were held.

The speakers were Elders L. Palmer, J. W. Evans and Bishop Walker, all of whom spoke of the promises of the resurrection and the hereafter, and offered words of comfort and consolation to the bereaved family and relatives. On behalf of the family, Bishop Walker thanked all who had assisted in any way in the services.

The opening prayer was by C. E. Allred, benediction by Arthur Dahl and the grave was dedicated by Fred Piegrass. Christensen Bros. were in charge of the interment and a nice crowd followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Deceased had been in ill health for a number of years, and no doubt her passing was pleasant relief. The sympathy of the community is extended to the sorrowing relatives and mother in their sadness.

The Genealogical Convention of the Taylor Stake, held Saturday evening and Sunday in the Second Ward Church was well attended, and a great deal of valuable information gained by those present. James M. Kirkham of the Utah Genealogical Society was present and took part in all the meetings. Saturday evening's meeting was particularly for Stake and Ward workers and was an open forum where those present asked questions pertaining to their work and these were answered in discussions.

Sunday morning John T. Steele, Stake Chairman of the Genealogical Committee gave a report of the activities in Genealogical work in its many branches throughout the Stake and this report showed a very large amount of work accomplished and a great deal of interest amongst the people in this very important work.

J.M. Kirkham spoke of the study courses and stated that they were the outcome of suggestions of representatives of the wards in Stakes near Salt Lake City who had gathered in three meetings, the last two at their own suggestion, to discuss what would be appropriate and most beneficial for these courses. The Junior Course he believed was one of the finest courses for the teaching of fundamentals in religion and genealogical work that could be obtained anywhere, and the Senior Course, featuring as it does doctrinal points, as well as the lesson "Teaching One Another," was designed to interest everyone. Speaking of Home Teaching he said it was a great opportunity to get people interested in research and Temple work, because everyone was interested in themselves. He urged more activity in Temple work and spoke of instances where people had been brought to real happiness and joy thru this unselfish service. He spoke of the magazine departments and thought there should be many more taken than there are at present. Speaking of obtaining records he told of the use of microfilm and passed one around for inspection. This method enabled old faded records to be copied perfectly and rapidly and make a permanent record of them, and many books could be filed in every small space by use of this method.

Pres. Z. W. Jacobs of the Alberta Temple spoke briefly and said we needed to get into our souls the importance of this great work, and members of the Priesthood quorums should be especially interested in seeing that their wives and children, and fathers and mothers are properly sealed. Without this work being completed, there will be no happiness or joy in the hereafter.

Pres. Heber F. Allen was the first speaker in the afternoon, speaking in behalf of the Stake Presidency, and voiced his appreciation of the Genealogical Committees of the various wards and the good work they were doing. He related instances that come under his observation as Bishop where families had been brought to a bigger and a better life through Temple activity and work.

Misses Spencer and Rasmussen, juniors of the Magrath Wards spoke briefly on the place of the juniors in Genealogical work, and stressed the value of accurate diaries and family Temple Sheets and getting Genealogical work done.

Pres. Jacobs spoke again and

WE'D LIKE TO BE SURE

Last Friday night we listened to John H. Blackmore explain the Social Credit solution of solving unemployment and economic problems by merely printing one million or six hundred million dollars of new currency and circulating it amongst the people to give the unemployed a good living and to increase the purchasing power of every one, unemployed and those who are employed and producing. John said it was as simple as A.B.C. and from the explanation we heard it was. It of course involved bonusing of production new industries and many other points, but the point was that debt free and interest free money was the big need and this could be created by merely printing it and it would not cost anyone anything. We wish we could be sure of this solving the problems as the speaker appeared to feel.

There is no question in the mind of any thinking person, but what a change must come, and that before very many years. Our present system is breaking down. We have discovered that relief under our present system is breaking down the morale of our citizens, a thing which is a thousand times worse than financial bankruptcy. A nation may recover from financial ruin, but from character ruin, never. We have found too, that trying to borrow ourselves, or spend ourselves out of debt on present financial practices is unsound and impossible. The question now is what next?

There are those platform speakers who would try and have us believe that the money barons of today know the solution of our problems, but rather than reveal it, and risk losing their handsome incomes, they sit back, say it cannot be done and watch innocent men, women and children go hungry, naked and cold. We doubt the truth of this word picture. There may be obsolete cases, but we are of the opinion that if there were a solution as easy as some claim, that a majority of these men whom we elect to represent us would be for this solution and would continue to press until it was achieved. This is denied by some, but we still believe that while every man may have his price, the main concern of the men who represent us in provincial and Dominion politics, is the welfare of the people as a whole.

We frankly admit that we have no solution to offer to the middle. We are of the opinion that every man should be provided with the opportunity of working at a fair wage for the things he needs. His pay may be in produce instead of cash, but a system should be arranged that would make this point of no consequence. The cash without labor system is demoralizing and should be discontinued as soon as possible. With the natural resources that we are reported to have in Northern Alberta in tar sands and salt deposits why couldn't much of our unemployed be put to work developing these resources and another army put to work placing surfacing of these supplies on the roads. The men need work, motorists need good roads and the combination of the two look like a partial solution to the question. We know the argument that it costs too much to get these things to a usable location. We'll venture the statement that 50% of the relief payments of Alberta in the last eight years would have developed these to the point of economical usability and the relief expense still goes on. These questions should be attacked and solved before the tail of relief gets so strong that it will wag the dog of government and we find ourselves in the midst of revolution.

Citizens of every walk should be seeking a solution to these problems. It should not be taking from one who has to give to one who has not, but it should be a plan of giving to every one the opportunity to obtain what he needs and desires, and then if through laziness or any other cause he does not obtain these things, the blame be upon him. True it is "the idler shall not eat the bread nor wear the garments of the laborer." When Adam was driven from the garden of Eden and commanded to eat his bread in the sweat of his face, the Lord knew what he was talking about, and despite all our efforts, any successful plan will be based on obedience to this great commandment, labor for what you get.

Negotiations which may have a far reaching effect on highway transportation are now proceeding between railways, oil companies and the Dominion transport board, said Hon. W.A. Falgout this week, in announcing the suspension of regulations governing trailer licenses. The Alberta Wheat Pool has purchased the Union Terminal, with a capacity of two million bushels, located at Port Arthur. The deal was made due to the necessity of providing additional terminal space for increasing large eastern shipments from Alberta. The Pool owns a five million bushel terminal at Vancouver, and, of course the bulk of Alberta grain handled by the organization will still be diverted westward.

Billy Hawkins is holidaying in Utah at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Lybbert and children of Mississippi, are here visiting for a few days with relatives and friends. They motored up.

As we go to press this week rafters are being placed on part of the new B.A. Station and in a few days it will be covered and inside work in progress.

Roy Ivie, who injured his shoulder in a fall from the high line at the Factory last week is improving steadily and will soon be back to work. His shoulder troubled him most at night and when he tried to keep quiet. As long as he could move around it didn't bother him so much. He was lucky to escape with such a slight injury.

Jos. Atwood and Miss Adra May Taylor were married in Cardston last week by J.Y. Card at his home. The young couple will make their home in Bound ary Creek, where the groom is ranching, and they have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy married life.

Losses to date are considerable lower than last year, the Treasurer reported. Storms have been widely scattered and of lesser intensity. Mr. Low recalled that the Hail Insurance Board was reconstituted at the 1938 session of the legislature. Operations of the previous board had been discontinued.

At the Mutual Conjoint meeting held in the Second Ward Sunday evening speakers were Mrs. O.R. Knight who reported on her recent trip to the New York World's Fair, and Bryant Heninger who had recently returned from the Exhibition at San Francisco. Their reports of the exhibits there and of the World of tomorrow were very instructive. A good musical program was also rendered.

Largest business written in the history of the province is reported by the Alberta Hail Insurance Board this year, according to Hon. Solon E. Low, Provincial Treasurer. 2,341,000 acres of farm land, involving a total liability in excess of $10,000,000 are protected. Last year 1,506,551 acres involving a liability of $7,115,126 were protected.

Fred Smith had a crew of men busy the first of the week digging up his gas tanks and rearranging them. One more will be added, which will make eight underground tanks at this station. One tank is being discarded because of it leaking. All four pumps will be lined up in the same rows too, instead of being at different points on the lot.

At a meeting of veterinarians in Brockville, Ont., Dr. Charles A. Mitchell warned those present that the sleeping sickness disease which attacked horses last year may also attack men. He said that four out of six researchers, infected with the disease while investigating it, had died from its effects.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON BANK OF MONTREAL CROP REPORT NO. 8

(From Alberta Publicity)

Director) General—High temperatures without the much needed rains have been detrimental to crops throughout the Prairie Provinces, and while crop prospects over a wide area remain favorable, early rains and cool weather are required to prevent further deterioration. Serious declines in conditions have occurred in southeastern, central and northwestern Saskatchewan and in the southern and central areas of both Manitoba and Alberta. Grasshoppers are numerous and are damaging coarse grains in Saskatchewan, but the wheat crop has not been seriously affected. Pastures are in need of rain. In Quebec hot weather has been general during the past week and all crops have made good progress. Recent rains have improved moisture conditions generally, and the crop outlook as a whole is very satisfactory. Ontario's drought which has assumed serious proportions, has been relieved by timely rains in all sections, and growing conditions are now favorable with the promise of normal yields. In the Maritime Provinces crops have progressed satisfactorily and the outlook is promising. Recent hot weather has been beneficial, but rain is needed in some districts. British Columbia crops continue to show good progress under favorable weather conditions, although rain is needed in some districts of the interior.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

ALBERTA—Extreme heat and lack of moisture have seriously deteriorated all crops, and rain and cooler weather are urgently needed. Moisture in northern areas is sufficient for the present, but rains would be beneficial. Elsewhere early sown wheat and wheat on summer fallow are standing up fairly well but other crops, particularly in the south, are heavily damaged.

Saskatchewan—Crops have deteriorated as a result of the hot dry weather, particularly in southeastern, central and northwestern districts. At many points in the extreme southeastern crops are a failure. In the southwestern, west-central, north-central and northeastern areas crops remain favorable, although widespread rains are required to prevent further deterioration. Grasshoppers are numerous and are damaging coarse grains in some districts.

Manitoba—Harvesting is now general and operations are proceeding rapidly. Heat and drought have damaged crops in the southern and west-central districts, and indications are that yields will be variable. While some deterioration has also occurred in the north-central and northwestern areas, crop prospects in these districts continue favorable.

At the Nominating Convention in Lethbridge Tuesday afternoon, L.E. Fairbairn, barrister of that city was again nominated to carry the Liberal banner in the forthcoming Dominion election.

Sau and the boys who went on the hike with him over Indian Pass returned home Monday. They planned on returning Sunday but there was so much rain in the Park and on the roads that Lloyd MacPhee decided to wait until Monday morning to attempt the trip. They report a wonderful time and some rare going from here to Edmonton, scenery on the hike.

A. Ponch of the Bank of Montreal staff is on his holidays going from here to Edmonton, scenery on the hike.

Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton—Although the prospective yield this year has been reduced to some extent by lack of rain in the past few weeks, Alberta's 1939 wheat crop still will have a much greater volume than last year, a survey indicated at the week-end.

GENEALOGICAL CONVENTION WELL ATTENDED

emphasized the fact that the Latter-Day Saints Church is the custodian of all the spiritual gifts of the true gospel because of the Priesthood and that we have a very great responsibility because of this. An other distinguishing feature of our Church is the power that this Priesthood gives us to do for others that which they are unable to do for themselves, and thus we become Saviors upon Mount Zion.

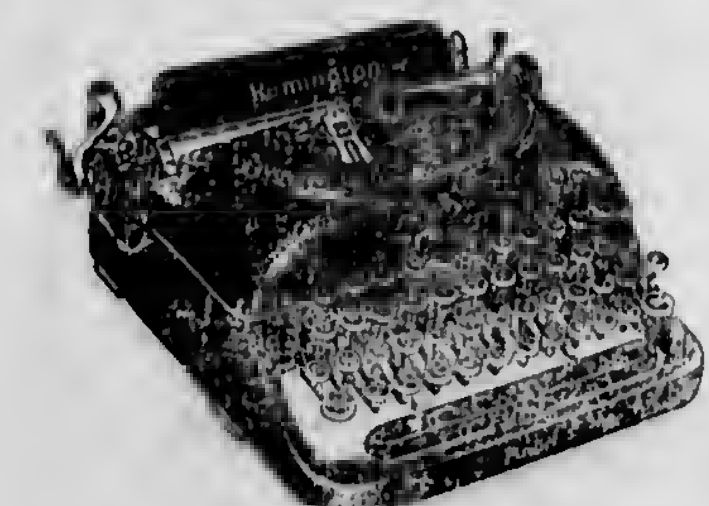

Elder Kirkham opened his remarks by saying there was nothing that would influence the lives of our young people like a proper understanding of the gospel, and the best way to obtain this was a study of genealogical subjects and Temple work. Less than half of the marriages in the L.D.S. Church were performed in the Temple and he thought we should be stir ourselves and see if this condition could not be remedied. He related experiences of his ancestors in the Church and how proud he was of his lineage when he learned of these Europe and his visit to the people. Speaking of his trip to great libraries, he said that fortunes were being spent each year in the compilation of family histories, and when people were asked why, they had no answer only that some spirit impelled them on. This spirit said the speaker was that of Elijah in fulfillment of the prophecy of Malachi that he should come in the last days to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children and the hearts of the children to the fathers. He encouraged all to persevere in this great work, and to remember that the only thing we could take with us when we left this earth was the knowledge we gained and the record of the services we had performed for our fellow men.

The Choir, directed by Will Stone with Mrs. Emma Dahl at the piano furnished the singing for the Sunday afternoon session and special number were rendered during the meetings, the following: Vocal Solo Mrs. Scott Salmon; Vocal Duets by two young ladies from Welling; Clarinet Trio by Snellie Redd and two McMullin boys; Vocal Duets by Miss Jean Keeler and Reena Gibb of Magrath and a Vocal Duets by Mrs. Wilford Brandley and daughter of Stirling.

Shirely King with a carload of drivers went to Calgary early Monday morning to bring back all the Ford trucks and cars they could get. There is a real famine for Ford trucks in the West right now and dealers have to be on their toes constantly to get hold of any.

River district, cutting will start within the next few days and in indications are that grain is filling well with an excellent yield in prospect, said an official bulletin. With price peg of 70 cents on the basis of No. 1 wheat at the lake head or Vancouver, and a peg of 60 cents on all over 5,000 bushels from any one farm on the federal government's guarantee, the dominion will be subsidizing Alberta wheat farmers by dozens of millions of dollars this year through the difference between the peg price and the actual market value of the grain, in addition to the guaranteed prices on coarse grains and other farm products and "the acreage bonus" on crop failures, it was pointed out.

Provincial Treasurer Solon Low and Manager F.A. Hennig of the Alberta hail insurance board said that hail insurance risks this year, total about $10,000,000 on 2,341,000 acres of Alberta farm land, represented by 14,457 different applicants.

Norman Sommerville, K.C., nationally known as a Toronto Lawyer, particularly as a commission counsel for the price spread and mass buying probe in 1935, and lesser known as new president of the Edmonton stockyards, advised Alberta farmers last week to turn to stock breeding on a big scale now, and feed the coarse grains.

In the meantime, the province's other great natural industry oil production, continued to be worried and hindered by governmental interference through the investigating commission appointed by Premier Aberhart's order last year and sitting in Calgary ever since then. Leon L. Plotkins, manager of a jobber company told the commission on Friday that the action of Imperial Oil, Limited, in reducing its price on tractor gasoline and distillate a week earlier would result in gasoline price war. The new prices, said Plotkins were "too low."

Any idea of a price war which would be destructive to the industry was denied later to be "considered," he said outside the probe, however, Big companies said that their prices had been reduced at the same time, each on its own structure, in accordance with gradually decreased production costs.

"The recent changes are just a normal development under prevailing conditions, with prices moving under free and open competition," said a leading official of one big company. "The fact that prices are free at the present time to move in this way is the only sound guarantee which consumers and producers alike can have of equitable treatment for both."

"Any government interference adversely affects one or the other (consumer or producer) and, in the long run, both."

Earlier in the probe the commission chairman, Judge McGillivray had agreed when H. Bronsden, an oil company official, said that the average man on the street could not understand the reason for a difference of $5 to $6 a barrel between crude oil and refined products. Mr. Bronsden had added that there was one simple reason, which was government taxation of the oil industry. Out of the 19.7 cents per gallon whole sale price, his company gets just 1.27 cents net to cover contingencies, replacements, sinking fund and dividends, he said while the government tax is 4.94 cents, or about four times as much. Judge McGillivray remarked that the government therefore had a greater interest in oil refining and marketing than the companies had.

Premier Aberhart and other Social Credit cabinet ministers and members continued their election campaign tour of the south during the past week. They indicated that roads would be the government's chief talking point in the bid for votes. The premier made promises of "consideration" for roads every ship of "all essential monopolies where he went. Among those who were denied later to be "considered," he said outside the probe, however, Big companies said that their prices had been reduced at the same time, each on its own structure, in accordance with gradually decreased production costs.

All the Aberhart promising and talking did not go over so good, however. At Foremost, for instance, his mention of roads was greeted with boos. At another meeting his statement that the government had reduced taxation was given a flat denial by a member of the audience.

Substantial crowds have greeted the premier in a few places and opposition leaders are urging people to attend his meetings so as to hear for themselves and analyze closely the exaggerated statements he makes. The element of entertainment also draws a crowd. The circus always is well attended, one observer remarked. Its influence is about nil also.

Chester A. Ronning, former member of the Alberta legislature, was elected provincial leader of the C.C.F. at the annual convention of that party in Edmonton last week. Elmer E. Roper, secretary, for years past was elected provincial president to succeed William Irvine.

Mr. Ronning has been nominated already as C.C.F. candidate in Camrose provincial riding, and will oppose Premier Aberhart in the coming election—if the premier decided to run in that constituency, provided he is a candidate at all.

The C.C.F. convention repudiated the "New Democracy" party headed by W.D. Herridge and clutched by Aberhart. It also condemned the "treasury branches" in the province as a "wasteful and unsound" scheme.

It adopted a four part resolution calling for removal of disincentives in freight rates, abolition of tariffs, establishment of a financial policy that would not penalize producers and co-operative public owner of roads every ship of "all essential monopolies system based on borrowing and interest, and this ruined the prosperity that had been enjoyed. If President Roosevelt, who is praised by some and attacked by many, was creating money instead of borrowing it, he would be on the right track to prosperity. But, if he did paper headlines would decay and eventually destroy him.

JOHN H. BLACKMORE

Social Credit says you have the power to create your money and the only limit is the resources of the country and the confidence of the people. If this were done we could pay a pegged price on wheat, or anything else that was priced below production costs, make it profitable to the producer and it wouldn't cost anyone a thing to do it. Speaking of the Treasury branches he said they were set up because the Provincial government had been refused the right to issue their own money. Cash was deposited, but the depositor went out and used vouchers instead of cash as a medium of exchange and while he was using these vouchers, the government was using the cash to make purchases of various sorts at a big saving to the people of the province and at a profit to the province and thus obtaining new money. When people become accustomed to the use of vouchers, there will be $1 in vouchers in circulation for every $1 in cash on deposit. What Alberta makes, makes Alberta, and if industries keep springing up in the province as they have done in the past year and a half, Alberta will become a great manufacturing province and if Treasury branches keep on growing as they have done since they started, the profits from these alone will be enough to pay a $25 dividend to every adult in the Province.

Speaking of his record in the Dominion House and of the record of the Provincial Government, he asked what people had against them that they wanted them out, and if they had any one better to put in. Government was the business of the people, and in his opinion the business of any party should be to do what the people who elected it wanted it to do.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

NEWS NOTES

Constable Ellis of Magrath was here Saturday and again on Wednesday.

N.W. Peterson took delivery of a new Two Ton Ford truck from King Motors this week. Henry Kendall built a beet box for it for the owner.

In a little over three weeks time the school children will be back at their desks again. The two months vacation seems quite short, especially to the scholars.

Materials are being assembled for Henry Kendall's new home which will be erected just south of E.S. Heninger's home where the old Geo. Shields residence stood.

After spending ten days in Southern Alberta attending Genealogical conventions, James M. Kirkham returned to his home in Salt Lake City on Sunday by bus. His brother A.W. Kirkham who has been ill for the past nine months or so, returned with him for a rest and to see if he can regain his usual health and strength.
